

I received a link to the US 60 minutes program (2012) where a number of senior researchers are discussing the effects of anti-depressants and challenging the theory that depression is caused by bad brain chemistry. It has lead to a huge debate in the profession of psychiatry and psychology. The link to the program is below and just click on the section on anti-depressants.

<http://www.cbsnews.com/video/watch/?id=7399362n&tag=contentBody;storyMediaBox>

I would be interested in your comments

Regards

Dr. Jillian Horton